

SocialLib

SocialLib Android is an Android version of popular SocialLib Java library. Now you do not need to integrate multiple SDKs if you want to integrate your application with multiple social networks. You just need to add few lines of code after integrating the SocialLib Android library in your app. The API enables user authentication and sharing updates through different various social networks and hides all the intricacies of generating signatures & token, doing security handshakes and provide an easy mechanism to build cool social apps. With this library, you can:

Design document

1.1 Access Data from Social network

1.2 Access Login and get user data from SocialLib.